

The Essential Range

A range of the most frequently used garden hand tools, aimed at the homeowner, where quality, frequency of use and price are key considerations. The tools are made from tubular steel, with additional soft to the touch grips on all handles and the shafts of the digging and border spades and forks, making them comfortable to use.

All heads are heat treated (hardened) carbon steel to provide both strength and durability. The powder coated finish provides resistance to damage as well as further protection against rust.
