

HANDLES

Selected from the finest hickory and ash timbers, replacement handles are available for all Faithfull tools. Faithfull replacement wooden handles are made to BS 3823 BW/BR British Standard specification which governs density, moisture content, grain, twist, knotting, finish, and staining etc. Ash timber, usually grown in the UK, is less dense than hickory with a lower shock resistance rating and is generally used on lighter tools or long handled tools.

Hickory timber is denser and is sourced from the American continent. It is recommended for all striking tools because of its shock absorption qualities and durability.

Pine is normally used for broom handles.

File handles are bored and ferruled for instant use and maximum safety.

Fibreglass is a tough synthetic material that is stronger and more durable than traditional timber. It is very light in weight and its resistance to moisture, combined with good shock absorbing properties, are major characteristics.

SAFETY TIP

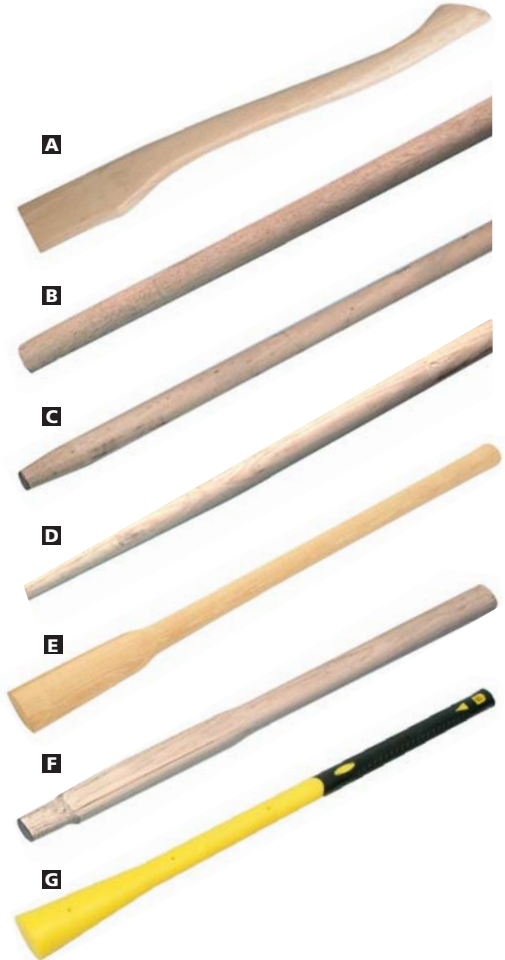

Replacing a damaged or broken handle on a striking tool should be done with great care. Hammer and axe handles must always be fitted with the correct size wooden and steel wedges. Hammer wedges should not be used on fibreglass handles.
