Nail Puller

The nail puller is the perfect tool for removing nails from most materials, lifting floorboards, opening wooden crates and dismantling wooden structures. It can even extract nail heads recessed below the surface level, and features a malleable cast iron 'slide handle' with a hinged, drop-forged gripping jaw, fixed to a box joint for extra strength. The tool is used by positioning the jaws on either side of the nail head before slamming down the slide handle to drive the jaws into the timber and under the nail head. The handle is then levered forwards using the base 'heel' as a leverage point to keep the jaws tight whilst extracting the nail.
