

Specialist Saw Blades

This selection of blades has all the quality features of the Faithfull professional tungsten carbide tipped blade range, but with the added benefits of special tooth rakes and tooth geometry that make them suitable for particular types of machines such as mitre saws or radial arm saws. Other blades are designed for specialist cutting of materials such as laminated wood or aluminium.

Blade Rake

A positive rake blade is advisable when the work piece is taken to the saw blade. A negative rake blade is advisable when the blade is taken to the work piece.

Tooth Geometry

The specialist blade range uses two types of tooth geometry, alternate top bevel for general cutting applications and triple chip geometry for blades cutting laminated wood or aluminium.
